

Karen Foster-Jorgensen is a consultant and trainer to the business side of early care and education and is excited to partner with ARCQE to bring her experiences to Alberta. Both in-person and online, Karen focuses on helping each child care centre administrator/owner or family based provider meet their mission for children through successful management and leadership. She is instrumental in developing and delivering online learning and networking opportunities and has extensive experience working with programs seeking NAEYC accreditation. Karen has experience and advanced training in both early childhood education and business and owned and directed two early childhood centres. In addition to non-profit leadership in the YMCA, teaching from preschool to college level, and pursuing entrepreneurial interests, Karen is a published author and recognized conference speaker. She enthusiastically approaches each project, collaborating with early childhood programs to enhance operating and financial success.
